PhD in Epidemiology at UAMS
Required Application Materials:

Students applying to the Ph.D. program in Epidemiology at UAMS must submit the following materials for full consideration:

- A completed application
- Official transcripts from each university attended even if listed as transfer credit on another transcript.
- Official test results from at least one Graduate Record Examination taken within the last 5 years
- If the applicant is not a native English speaker and does not have a bachelor’s or a master’s degree from a regionally accredited US institution, then they must submit scores for the Test of English as a Foreign Language (TOEFL) taken within the last 2 years.
- 3 letters of recommendation
- A “Statement of Purpose” explaining why they wish to apply to the PhD program in Epidemiology.

Students have the option to submit supplemental material which may assist the PhD advisory committee when deciding on whether the student should be accepted into the program. Such supplemental material could include the following examples:

- A resume or curriculum vitae
- Copies of peer-reviewed articles which the student has authored or co-authored (maximum 3).

Only Fall admissions will be considered, and these will only be accepted through SOPHAs.
